March 23, 2020

EL SEGUNDO, Calif., March 23, 2020 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- A-Mark Precious Metals, Inc. (NASDAQ: AMRK), a leading full-service provider of products and services to the global precious metals market, has strengthened its trading team with the appointment of Justin Blatti as the company's new vice president of trading. Blatti will report to A-Mark's new head of global trading, Kevin Pelo, who was promoted earlier this month.

Blatti brings to A-Mark more than 10 years of experience in precious metals and foreign exchange trading. Prior to joining A-Mark, Blatti was a senior precious metals and foreign exchange trader at Russell Investments, a global, multi-asset class investment manager, where he successfully led a foreign exchange trading team. Blatti also implemented various precious metals proprietary trading strategies at Russell to help augment inter-portfolio risk adjusted returns while actively hedging macro risks from equities, fixed income and currencies overlay strategies. Prior to his tenure at Russell Investments, Blatti held various trading positions at Barclays and Lehman Brothers.

"Justin's unique combination of technical trading skills and strategic thinking make him a valuable addition to our global trading team," said Pelo.

"Justin not only brings tremendous precious metals trading expertise and relationships to A-Mark, but also significant international business development experience that we'll look to leverage as we expand our presence and offerings in Europe."
