Fiscal Q1 2017 Financial Results

Revenues decreased 10% to $1.81 billion from $2.01 billion in the same year-ago quarter. The decrease in revenue was primarily due to lower gold and silver ounces sold as compared to the same year-ago quarter as a result of the unusual market conditions in fiscal Q1 2016 in which commodities experienced unusually high volatility. This decrease was partially offset by an increase in precious metal prices.

Gross profit decreased 44% to $8.1 million (0.45% of revenue) from $14.4 million (0.72% of revenue) in the same year-ago quarter. The decline in gross profit margin was primarily due to lower premium spreads on the company's primary products, as well as lower ounces and lower total tickets compared to the same year-ago quarter. The tighter premium spreads and lower volumes as compared to the same year-ago quarter were due primarily to the unusual market conditions in fiscal Q1 2016 in which commodities experienced unusually high volatility resulting in a widening of trading spreads and higher demand.

Selling, general and administrative expenses decreased 12% to $5.7 million from $6.4 million in the same year-ago quarter. The decrease was primarily due to lower performance-based compensation accruals. The decrease in selling, general and administrative expenses was partially offset by $250,000 of consulting expenses primarily related to the development and implementation of a new enterprise resource planning system and $600,000 of other non-recurring expenses.

Interest income increased 49% to $2.9 million from $1.9 million in same year-ago quarter, driven primarily by an increase in the size of the company's loan portfolio, as well as increased utilization of the Company's inventory finance products by its wholesale customers.

Interest expense increased 82% to $2.2 million from $1.2 million in same year-ago quarter, which was primarily due to greater usage of the company's lines of credit and other product financing arrangements.

Net income decreased 65% to $2.0 million or $0.27 per diluted share from $5.6 million or $0.80 per diluted share in the same year-ago quarter. The decrease in net income was primarily due to lower revenue and gross profit.

Management Commentary

"Fiscal Q1 was gratifying in many ways because it validated our business model in a relatively subdued precious metals market," said company CEO, Greg Roberts. "These conditions were consistent with the prior quarter, so looking at our results on a sequential basis, nearly every metric was up, including revenue, gross profit, and net income, despite lower physical metal ounces sold. The sequential improvement was driven by strong demand for our higher-margin custom coin and finance products. This solid performance illustrates the advantages of our diversified business model, which provides multiple revenue streams and offers opportunities for significantly higher gross profit in market environments with increased volatility and demand—similar to what we experienced in fiscal Q1 of last year.

"Our initiatives to expand our capacity and product offerings continue to gain traction. This is highlighted by several recent accomplishments, particularly the strategic investment we made in SilverTowne Mint, a leading producer of fabricated silver products. SilverTowne significantly expands our capacity to meet unforeseen surges in demand during volatile market environments.

"In addition to expanding our capacity and production capabilities, we have completed the wholesale operations consolidation plan for our Las Vegas logistics facility. By consolidating those operations into one primary location under our control, we have reduced dependence on third-party service providers, while enhancing quality control, reducing operating costs, and ensuring a more vertically integrated business model. An essential part of our strategy for this facility is to expand our suite of ancillary services, including long-term secured storage. IRA custody is now becoming a growing area within precious metals storage, and we are pleased to have recently secured our first customer for this service. We hope to secure additional customers during fiscal 2017.

“And finally, while the relatively subdued market conditions continue to persist in our current fiscal quarter, both in terms of demand and volatility, we remain focused on executing our plan to grow our platform of high-margin and turnkey solutions. We entered fiscal 2017 with encouraging momentum; now, we aim to leverage that progress, as well as our diversified business model, to expand margins and capitalize on market conditions as they arise.”
